“The Mist” premieres Thursday on Spike TV.
Civilization breaks down when fear and ‘The Mist’ grip a small town in new Spike series

Secrets, a brutal crime and a deadly fog — they’re the ingredients for terror in small-town Maine in a new series premiering this week on Spike TV.

In “The Mist,” based on a story by horror-meister Stephen King and debuting Thursday, June 22, the sleepy burg of Bridgeville is rocked when young Alex Copeland (Gus Birney, “This Is Us”) is sexually assaulted, allegedly by her high school’s football star Jay Heisel (Australian newcomer Luke Cosgrove), who also happens to be the son of the town’s alpha dog sheriff, Connor Heisel (Darren Pettie, “Mad Men”).

As the fallout from the crime sends shockwaves through the town, it also places further stresses and strains on the already-shaky marriage of Alex’s parents, Kevin (Morgan Spector, “Boardwalk Empire”) and Eve (Alyssa Sutherland, “Vikings”). Eve, a former wild child still trying to live down her reputation, often clashed with Kevin over what she feels is his permissive attitude toward Alex’s upbringing, which she thinks is partially to blame for what happened to her. And the people in town aren’t so sure Alex is an innocent party, either.

Into the town settles an eerie, dense mist that poses more danger than just hazardous driving. In the opening episode, that can mean death at the hands of what appear to be cannibalistic insects, no electricity and no cell service, among other woes. The smart ones stay indoors with the windows and doors shut.

As Bridgeville goes into crisis mode, secrets are exposed, relationships are threatened and the rules of society begin to break down. And people’s true natures — for better and worse — emerge.

On the apparent better side is Kevin, the reasoned, moral man who refuses to give in to the prejudice and anger he sees around him.

“He’s the good, civilized man,” says the actor who portrays him, Spectr, “and I think part of what Christian (Torpe, the showrunner) was interested in certainly was, OK, if you have somebody whose beliefs have probably been relatively unchallenged, whose convictions, while maybe he would regard them as deeply held, have never really been put to the test — what happens when circumstances put that man’s convictions to the test?

“The possibility of exploring that ...,” he continues, “I find that really fascinating, that idea of exploring, OK, at what point do you let go of your scruples in order to survive or in order to protect those you truly love?”

No ‘Dice’? Not quite: Showtime series will return

BY JAY BOBBIN © Zap2it

A: It has, and it will begin running on Aug. 20. The semi-autobiographical comedy starring Andrew Dice Clay has a seven-episode order for its sophomore round, with Ron Livingston ("Office Space") slated to join the show in a recurring role as an entertainment lawyer who ends up needing Dice’s help as much as vice versa. Season 2 also will see guest turns by “Saturday Night Live” alum Laraine Newman, Billy Gardell (“Mike & Molly”) and pop-music icon Tony Orlando.

Q: Is “Chicago Justice” really over already? It seems like it just started. — Dan Evans, via e-mail
A: Yes, the most recent addition to NBC’s slate of Windy City dramas from executive producer Dick Wolf ended almost as soon as it began. Though it had gotten a pretty big build-up, with its characters woven into the other “Chicago” shows earlier — and its first official episode linked to a story that began on “Chicago Fire” and “Chicago P.D.” — the network opted not to renew the drama that starred Philip Winchester and Carl Weathers. The roles they played will live on, though, as those episodes of the other “Chicago” series in which they appeared are repeated.

Q: We recently discovered “Longmire” and binge-watched all of its seasons. I read that there will be one last season. Do you know when it will air? — Diane Brown, Twin Falls, Idaho
A: Production on the last 10 episodes that will comprise the modern Western’s sixth and final season began in March in New Mexico. Netflix has said they will debut sometime this year, and since all of them will be made available simultaneously for streaming, we’d anticipate that will happen close to the end of the year, since all 10 stories have to be ready at once. Robert Taylor will close out his run as the title lawman, with Kattee Sackhoff, Lou Diamond Phillips and Cassidy Freeman among other returnees. Warner Bros. Home Entertainment is sure to follow the tradition it’s had with “Longmire” by releasing that last season on home video sometime after it has run on Netflix for a while.

Q: Does Jim Parsons have any involvement in the upcoming “Big Bang Theory” spinoff “Young Sheldon”? — Mike Sloan, Bryan, Ohio
A: Very much so, and in a couple of ways. Multiple Emmy winner Parsons will be heard in voiceovers as the present-day Sheldon, commenting on his younger life that the new CBS comedy will depict — and he’s also one of the executive producers of the show, which is scheduled to help launch the fall television season with a “preview” premiere on Sept. 25.

A: The actor who played Sheriff Harry S. Truman in the first incarnation of David Lynch’s mystery-drama retired from acting after his role in the 2011 George Clooney movie “The Descendants,” and he evidently couldn’t be persuaded to change his mind for the Showtime revival. Robert Forster’s Sheriff Frank Truman, who is Harry’s brother, clearly is intended to fill that character slot in the current version.

So You Think You Can Dance
7 p.m. on WDAF
Hollywood is sometimes called “the dream factory,” so it’s hardly surprising that the judging panel is still in the City of Angels for the new “Los Angeles Auditions No. 2.” As the hopefuls get it all in a bid to make it to the callback round, it’s bittersweet to remember they’re dancing here more or less free-style. Once they advance to later rounds and must contend with technical factors they’re not used to, many will fall by the wayside quickly.

America’s War on Drugs

8 p.m., 12:06 a.m. on HIT

The new episode “Cocaine, Cartels & Crackdowns” reveals how violent cartel bosses such as Pablo Escobar rise to power by bringing their cocaine into America via secret airports. So-called “shadow wars” by the CIA and a former Nazi who also was a former U.S. intelligence asset contribute to the world’s first narco-state. Crack floods into the country, partly an unintended consequence of the war against communism.

Gabel and Robert Patrick also star.

Talking Saul

10:16 p.m., 1:47 a.m., 4:02 a.m. on AMC

“Better Call Saul” consistently gets plenty of respect from critics and even occasional awards consideration, but the show doesn’t attract the level of pop-cultural attention afforded to other AMC offerings such as “The Walking Dead” and “Preacher.” Happily, Chris Hardwick makes up for that to some degree as he hosts this live after-show, welcoming members of the “Saul” cast and creative team to talk about the just-completed third season.

America’s War on Drugs

8 p.m., 12:06 a.m. on HIT

The Clinton administration’s support of the North Atlantic Free Trade Agreement inadvertently opens the door to Mexican cartels, and the subsequent crackdown on violence leads in turn to mass incarceration in the penultimate new episode, “Gangs, Prisons & Meth Queens.” As ruthless cartels begin a bloody war for dominance, the sister of a celebrity becomes a successful meth supplier in Ravi’s (Rahul Kohli) past — and she’s being forced to choose between two men, Nicky (Molly Gordon) feels as if she’s being forced to choose between two men, one a rival, then face off in a direct elimination duel. Upon watching each performance, judges Jennifer Lopez, Derek Hough and Ne-Yo score each act based on such factors as artistry, precision and athleticism. The top scoring acts move forward in the competition, putting them one step closer to that $1 million grand prize.

Born This Way

Mariano and Bea find it challenging at best to communicate with Christina on the subject of her sexuality, but they give it their best shot on a new episode called “What Love Means.” Continuing that theme, the friends take part in a surprisingly candid discussion about love, sexuality and relationships, based in part on what they currently are experiencing themselves.

Wrecked

9 p.m., 11 p.m. on TBS

This comic send-up of “Lost” and other castaway dramas opens its second season with two new back-to-back episodes that presumably pick up the action where the Season 1 cliffhanger left off: with the castaways discovering that the ship they thought had come to rescue them actually carried a pirate crew seeking to kidnap one of their party — a secret missing heir — to hold for ransom. Zach Cregger, Brian Sacca and Rhys Darby head the ensemble cast.

Queen Sugar

9 p.m., 12 a.m. on OWN

life-guards, who will then vote for their favorite dish. Aaron Sanchez and Christina Tosi assist host Gordon Ramsay with the judging.

Big Pacific

7 p.m. on KCPT, KTWU

As might be guessed, the title ocean is the subject of this new documentary series narrated by Daniel Dae Kim ("Hawaii Five-O,") "Lost," with each episode examining a different trait of the Pacific and the creatures that inhabit it. Thus, the opening installment titled "Mysterious Jawfish" focuses on the creatures that inhabit the thorny mouths of winter.

The Carmichael Show

8 p.m. on KSHB

In the new episode "Cynthia's Birthday," Jerrod and Maxine (Jerrod Carmichael, Amber Stevens West) are dismayed when his mother (Loretta Devine) is unhappy over a birthday present they gave her. Sensing this may be a teachable moment for his relatives, Jerrod decides to make the rest of the Carmichaels broaden their horizons and accept that matters of race should not dictate what is and is not acceptable. David Alan Grier also stars.

America's War on Drugs

8 p.m., 12:06 a.m. on HST

In the miniseries finale, "Heroin, Terrorists & Kings of Pain," the war on drugs collides with the war on terror in the days following the 9/11 attacks. As a result, Afghanistan almost overnight is transformed into a narco-state. American intervention only helps to empower El Chapo and the super cartels of Mexico. The U.S. pharmaceutical industry — aka Big Pharma — becomes a supplier of addictive substances, too.

Cloud 9 is made a site for voters to cast their ballots, and the store's owners feel compelled to distribute a guide to backing candidates, prompting Amy and Jonah (Ben Feldman) to devise an opposing guide. Mateo (Nico Santos) tries to conceal the fact that he's undetermined.

To Tell the Truth

9 p.m. on KMBC

This update of one of television's most classic game shows continues its second season, with Anthony Anderson ("black-ish") as host — and his mother chiming in from the sidelines. However, it's mostly up to a celebrity panel of four guests to determine which of three people really is the individual whose experiences are discussed. Yes, two of the claimants expose themselves as big liars on national television, but it's all in the name of entertainment.

NOVA

9 p.m., 2 a.m. on KTWU

Ever wonder how the continent you live on was created? Wonder no more: "Making North America" is a three-part mini-series that goes back three billion years to trace how it came to be, appropriately starting with "Origins." Palm trees normally aren't associated with Alaska, but the hour shows that combination was indeed a fact at an early point in time. Also considered are forces of nature that all but destroyed America's Midwest.

This Is Us

9 p.m. on KSHB

A trip to "The Pool" — the title of this episode — proves revelatory for Rebecca and Jack (Mandy Moore, Milo Ventimiglia), who come to understand the challenges faced by each of their children. Kevin (Justin Hartley) gets his own challenge from an actress during a Broadway audition. An encounter with Toby's (Chris Sullivan) ex-wife (guest star Natalia Cigliuti) unnerves Kate (Chrissy Metz). William (Ron Cephas Jones) becomes a victim of neighborhood prejudice.

Fargo

9 p.m., 10:15 p.m., 12:44 a.m. on FX

Gloria (Carrie Coon) finally untangles her complicated case by following a classic bit of crime-solving advice: Just follow the money. Blood Drive

9 p.m., 2 a.m. on SYFY

Taking a break from their breakneck race, Arthur and Grace (Alan Ritchson, Christine Ohoo) stop at the Pixie Swallow Motel & Diner for a hot meal, but find themselves on the menu for cannibal truckers. Held captive at Heart Enterprises, Christopher (Thomas Domini-que) tries to reach Arthur, while Julian Silk (Colin Cunningham), the Blood Drive master of ceremonies, nervously awaits a performance review in the new "Welcome to Pixie Swallow."

Queen Sugar

9 p.m., 12 a.m. on OWN

Charley (Dawn-Lyen Gardner) is completely blindsided during her final divorce mediation session with Davis (Timon Kyle Durrett), while Nova (Rutina Wesley) hosts a community fundraiser in the new episode "To Usward." Hollywood Game Night

7 p.m. on KSHB

Jane Lynch kicks off a new season of high-spirited but friendly competition as two teams of celebrities help two non-showbiz guests win money by pre-vailing in party-game rivalry. Hollywood Medium With Tyler Henry

7 p.m., 9 p.m., 12 a.m. on E!

The F Word With Gordon Ramsay

Joel McHale ("Community") is a celebrity guest for a new episode in which families and friends compete in a live high-stakes cook-off. Great Yellowstone Thaw

8 p.m., 1 a.m. on KCPT, KTWU

One of America’s great national parks challenges the animals who inhabit it to survive a major temperature swing — 140 degrees, to be precise — as winter changes to spring and then to summer. In this new three-part miniseries co-produced by England’s BBC, Dr. Kirk Johnson of the Smithsonian National Museum of Natural History joins experts to examine how wolves, grizzly bears and others cope with the shift. "Episode 1" shows them in the throes of winter.

Mysteries at the Museum

As is his custom, host Don Wildman showcases a diverse assortment of relics tied to fascinating events and personalities of the past, including a piece of top-secret military equipment developed by the first celebrity chef, an item associated with a ghost that terrorized a popular music venue and a father-son duo who rode the tallest wave in the world in the new episode “Shark Chaser, Haunted Harmony and 1,799 Foot Wave.”

Mom
8:01 p.m. on KCTV
Since he moved in with them, Christie and Bonnie (Anna Faris, Allison Janney) occasionally have looked askance at Adam’s (William Fichtner) continued fondness for getting loaded. He finds himself smugly on the moral high ground when both the ladies of the house start sliding back into some activities that are, strictly speaking, illegal in “Freckled Bananas” (Anya Taylor-Joy), an unpredictable and bizarre dangers. Morgan Spector (" Allegiance"), Alyssa Sutherland ("Vikings") and Frances Conroy ("Six Feet Under") star.

When a man is killed to destroy the tunnels Epiñano (Joaquim de Almeida) uses for his drug-smuggling operations, Teresa and James (Alice Braga, Peter Gadiot) come face to face with a group of American border vigilantes. The challenges faced by the bakers are all about bread in this new episode, as judge Paul Hollywood puts them to three tasks meant to test their culinary skills to the max. Wynonna Earp
9:01 p.m. on SYFY
Homeontaging festivities in Purgatory take a dire turn indeed when an ancient entity crashes the celebration, intent on collecting a deadly promise in a new episode called “Gonna Getcha Good.” Syfy doesn’t provide much other information as to how events unfold, but based on years of hour viewing, we can report that ancient entities rarely mellow with time, so we’re guessing this is not going to end well for some characters. Melanie Scrofano and Tim Rozon star.

Catastrophe
10:02 p.m., 12:02 a.m. on LIFE
In the first of four new back-to-back episodes, Sharon (Sharon Horgan) is thoroughly shaken by the news that her friends Fran and Chris (Ashley Jensen, Mark Bonnar) have split, especially given that Fran’s having an affair and Chris is drowning his sorrows at an experimental sex club. Director, writer and star Nate Parker appropriates the same title that D.W. Griffith once used for a wildly racist 1915 silent film, but this award-winning 2016 historical drama chronicles the bloody 1831 revolt in which Baptist preacher Nat Turner led his fellow Virginia slaves in an attempt to free themselves.
